

The Rare Oul Times Hammersmith Irish Centre in London

Saturday 5th and Sunday 6th April
Information Line 02085638232

'The Rare Oul' Times' is a play is performed by The Nomadic Theatre Company, winners of the 'Good Companions Touring Award' at the National Fit-Up Awards in Dublin.

The action takes place in John Ryan's famous Bailey Pub in Duke Street, Dublin, where the audience are on-lookers as two of Irelands most outrageous and notorious drinkers and literary figures, Brendan Behan and Patrick Kavanagh, discuss their successes, failures and love lives to date in 1950's Dublin.

Nostalgia, humour and song flow in equal proportions to the pints of 'black stuff', as the cast produce a memorable nights theatre that will send the audience home with a tear in their eye and a smile on their lips.

Contact Details:

Oliver Moore (028) 3883 1097 /
07749 843 302

Ken McElroy (028) 3884 0054 /

07801 541 600

www.rareoultimes.co.uk

